

Seaford Primary school Reading Newsletter

term 2 2021

Welcome to the second Seaford Primary Reading Newsletter. Here you'll find reading recommendations for all ages as well as links to websites, events and general tips on how to help your child on their reading journey. Maybe you can find some Christmas present ideas. Who doesn't like to receive a book for Christmas?

We've had our first author visit this year!

Steve Clifford came to visit years R-3 on the last days of November and years 4-6 on the first couple of days of December. The children loved having a real author in the classroom again. They asked lots of questions and engaged with all the writing tasks that Steve set them. We really have some budding authors at school—some of the writing was outstanding! Let's hope that this was just the first out of many more author workshops this year.

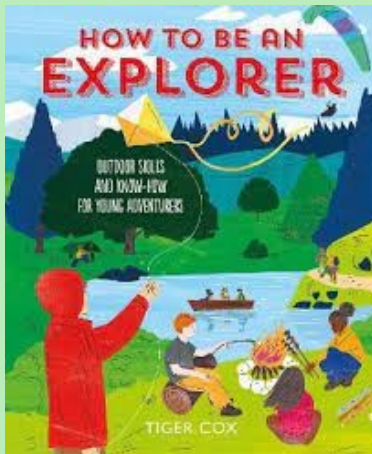

If you missed Steve Clifford in the playground and would like to buy one of his books, you can do this from his website www.csclifford.co.uk

A girl called Vi and a boy called Herbie go on a thrilling adventure to uncover the secret of the Malamander. What is it? Is it real?

I recommend this book to anyone who likes mystery and adventure stories. This is one of my favourite books!

Calling all young explorers! Here's a perfect Christmas present for any youngster who loves adventure. Local explorer Tiger Cox has written a fabulous book with lots of information on how to prepare for any type of adventure. This is definitely a book to read from page to page and to dip into whenever you're ready for some adventure. You'll find this brand new book in bookshops or you can buy it directly from the author

This is Harry Potter and it is one of my favourite book series ever. It is packed full of adventure, mystery and emotion. In case you haven't heard of Harry Potter, it is all about a boy called Harry Potter and he had never heard of wizardry or witchcraft until a half-giant comes and tells him he is a wizard. I won't spoil any more of it for you though. I recommend it 10/10!

And here's a book recommendation for the adults.

After struggling to get in to this book for the first couple of chapters, I then found it impossible to put down. It tells the heart-breaking story of a young girl called Kya, abandoned by her mother desperate to escape her abusive husband. The father eventually also abandons his very young daughter, who through her naive six year old eyes comes to independence having no choice in the matter. Set in the marshlands of North Carolina, a tragedy hits the small town many years later and suspicion falls upon Kya, the so called 'marsh girl'. A real page turner, with fabulous description which enables the reader to really imagine the setting, sights and smells as Kya fights for her future and freedom which keeps you guessing right until the end. One of the best books I have read for a long time. Highly recommended.
